

Kathleen Klein

Waste Management

 Get In Touch

Kathleen has been employed in the environmental industry for 25 years. Her primary focus has been in the environmental services industry working with environmental consultants, industry and municipalities needing to dispose of waste at regulated waste disposal facilities. She currently serves as Community Relations Representative for Waste Management, the nation's leading environmental services provider, and facilitates public education to community members in SE Michigan about sustainability and the management of waste in today's modern landfills.